Boarders Return

Becky and I really enjoyed welcoming a healthy crowd of parents to drinks down at Clock House on Friday evening. It was lovely to catch up with everyone informally and we are already looking forward to the next such evening on the 16th March with parents of Middle School children. Do save the date in your diaries.

We have been hearing of more scholarship success recently for our Year 8 children: Florrie Arnold-Forster has been awarded an art scholarship to Hereford Cathedral School and Paige Bosi has been given a drama scholarship to Malvern St James. These add to other recent awards such as Cheltenham Ladies College recognising Gigi Beale's sporting talents with a scholarship, Charlie Wood being given a music exhibition to Ellesmere College and Gia Neath adding more awards to her list, ending with three scholarships in sport, drama and art to Malvern College. Our Year 8 children have worked hard towards their recent mock exams and are all moving in the right direction. We are very proud of them all and look forward to further success as we move through the year.

I attended the MPS drinks in London on Thursday night which is always a great occasion. They all showed such fondness for the school and it was lovely to meet pupils from several generations. Sadly, Derek Henderson couldn't make it but I believe he is on reasonable form and we certainly toasted his health throughout the evening!
